Materials

- Green colored dish soap
- Corn starch

Tools

- Bowl
- Measuring Spoons

Instructions

1. Add 3 tablespoons of green colored dish soap to a bowl.
2. Mix in 4 tablespoons of cornstarch.
3. Stir the mixture well until it reaches a doughy consistency that is hard to stir. If it is still sticky to the touch, add another tablespoon of cornstarch a little at a time, and begin to work it in with your hands.
4. When the dish soap slime is done, it will be a cross between silly putty and traditional oozing slime. As you play with it, it will feel like silly putty, but if you let it sit still on a table or in your hands, it will start to turn into more of a slime consistency.
