

ADDITIONAL CAPE DECORATION

If you would like to do more to your cape than just draw with the included fabric markers, here are some suggestions and ideas:

- If you want the cape to be a color other than white the easiest way is to use Rit fabric dye. You can usually find Rit at craft stores and it runs about $2.00 a box.
- Iron on transfers would be another way to add big graphics to the cape relatively inexpensively.
- If you want to add sequins or rhinestones use a fabric glue, such as Aleen's to add them on. I do not know that this would hold up through washing, but it would add some temporary glitter.
- Even if you don't add anything you can still make a fantastic cape just with fabric markers and imagination! The important thing is to have fun. Try getting your little one to make up a story for their superhero. What is their power? What city do they protect? This can be a great exercise in understanding the way stories work.
