Dear Educator,

Summer Reading is almost here! The Metropolitan Library System is hosting our annual program in June and July. This is a free program to help encourage our community members to read and engage with their public library during the summer months. There is no cost to participate, and all participants can win prizes for reaching their reading goals.

We hope you will partner with the library as we work to encourage students and adults to be lifelong readers. Here's how you can help:

- Use this promotional toolkit to send students home with a digital or printer flyer for Summer Reading
- Use this promotional toolkit to find crafted language and images for creating social media posts promoting Summer Reading on behalf of your organization or yourself
- Provide incentives for your students to sign up for Summer Reading
- Sign students up and send their log-in information home with the included letter
- Create a faculty book club and log your reading minutes together
- Create a faculty goal of how many minutes you will work to contribute to our Community Goal enabling us to donate books to the Latino Community Development Agency

In addition to this promotional toolkit, there are supplemental resources available at www.metrolibrary.org/summerschool, including online training just for teachers with a chance to win prizes for your classroom.

If you have questions about these resources or the contents of this toolkit, please reach out to engagement@metrolibrary.org or call 405-606-3834.

Happy Summer!

-Your friends at the Metropolitan Library System

SUMMER READING @ METROLIBRARY

Dear Parent or Caregiver,

Summer is almost here and that signals the arrival of the one thing kids everywhere look forward to — summer vacation. It's the time when children and young adults have fun just being a kid and can't wait for summer camp, pool time, family time or vacation. But one thing you may not be aware of during the summer is the "Summer Slide."

On average, children lose approximately two months of their reading achievement if they do not read during the summer. They typically score lower on standardized tests at the end of the summer than they did on the same test at the beginning of the summer. And these few months of reading loss accumulate over the years. By the time kids reach middle school, those who haven't read during the summers may have lost as much as two years' worth of achievement. The good news is the Summer Slide can easily be prevented.

HOW CAN YOU PREVENT THE SUMMER SLIDE?

Reading for just 20 minutes a day, helps kids maintain the reading skills they developed during the school year. Not only will it help them stay on track when school starts back, but with reading they can experience a summer of adventure by stimulating their imaginations.

Signing up for the Summer Reading Program through the Metropolitan Library System is one of the best ways for your child to keep reading over the summer. Summer Reading starts June 1 and continues through July 31.

To help reduce the effects of the Summer Slide, I have signed your child up for the Metropolitan Library System Summer Reading Program and created a username and password for you to log your child's reading this summer. Below is the information for your child's account:
